What Works

- Develop solid relationships with Project Developers before and during planning. (Make use of community politicians, Get community leaders involved. (Recruitment, Advocates)
- To ensure general contractors and subcontractors adhere to community hiring guidelines. (Make it part of the RFP)
- Is there an economic inclusion plan. (Minority owned and locally owned businesses, what level of participation?)
- You must have a strong recruiting and community outreach with equally strong assessment and screening. (Poor assessment can ruin an employer relationship)
- Pre-Training for certain jobs that will not end when the construction is done. (Positions that will be available after construction or clean-up.)
